

In this class students will study the foundations of psychology and the theories of how people think, how they see themselves, and why they behave the way they do using a Christian worldview. Students will participate through daily discussions, lessons, videos, and experiments.